

AD's Editors Present Designers' Sources

Ideal Setting

Cutlery at Deeply Madly Living (www.deeplymadlyliving.com; 877-887-0080) in Manhattan reinterprets 19th-century Italian flatware in colorful plastic. The sets, $120, consist of four forks, knives, spoons and dessert spoons.

Budding Genius

As it has for 300 years, the Meissen porcelain factory produces objects of great technical skill and beauty. Los Angeles's TableArt (www.tartontheweb.com; 323-653-8278) has a pair of limited-edition vases, $50,000, from the firm.

Positive Altitude

Manheim-Ruseau (www.manheimruseau.com; 972-387-4578) has partnered with designer Doug Levine to launch the Douglas Levine Collection. Among the first pieces to debut is the Altitude Cabinet, a semainier veneered with rosewood.

La Dolce Vita

Surfing Cowboys (www.surfingcowboys.com; 310-450-4891), the Venice, California, spot for surfing memorabilia and midcentury-Modern items, has other iconic examples of material culture, including a 1960 Ducati Brio scooter, $2,500.
